

ABSTRACT

A load coil is disposed along a local loop for conditioning POTS signals while permitting passage of higher frequency DSL signals with low attenuation. In one embodiment, the load coil includes a coupled inductor having multiple capacitive
5 elements coupled thereto, the capacitive elements facilitating passage of the DSL signals across the load coil.